Litigation Departments of the Year INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY WINNER: Latham & Watkins

■ Describe your firm's approach to litigation and your strategy for building successful teams for trials or other matters. We are a well-integrated, trial-ready, and tested team that can handle the most complex disputes, no matter where the case is taking place. We staff our bet-the-company matters from a hand selected group across the country. – Inge Osman

■ Discuss the two biggest litigation cases your firm worked on in 2022 and how you reached successful outcomes. Our team is a force with significant victories, including: four critical patent and copyright jury trial victories for Irving Consumer Products, Philip Morris International, Oracle, and SMR; global settlements for Johnson & Johnson and AbbVie; and precedent-setting Federal Circuit wins for Natera and Avadel. Key to our success is supporting the development of our junior attorneys, as illustrated in the articles, How a Third-Year Associate Pulled Off a Winning Summary Judgment Argument for Meta Platforms and 'A Whole Different Ballgame'—What Associates Are Learning by Standing Before Juries. – Gabriel Bell

■ What are the most challenging and satisfying aspects of your work in litigation? Lawsuits are won both down in the trenches and up in the ivory tower, and the challenge is being adept in both. But there is nothing more satisfying than successfully leveraging both shrewd litigation tactics and intellectual rigor to solve clients' problems. – Sy Damle

■ What is the most important piece of advice you'd share with young lawyers? Figure out what you like to do and find people you enjoy working with. Look for mentors to help you along the way and be kind to everyone—litigation is a team effort, and every player is important. – Inge Osman ■
